trinity tidings is the newsletter of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, 723 Lehman Street, Lebanon, PA 17046

“Jesus told his disciples, “If any want to become my followers, let them deny themselves and take up their cross and follow me. For those who want to save their life will lose it, and those who lose their life for my sake will find it. For what will it profit them if they gain the whole world but forfeit their life? Or what will they give in return for their life?”
Matthew 16:24-26

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

We all have seasons we enjoy more than others. Some of us are fans of winter and some people are not. I have heard some people complaining about the cold, the snow, and the lack of daylight. I enjoy all four seasons for different reasons, but I do look forward to spring coming soon. The first Sunday in February is Groundhog Day so maybe we will get to hear what Punxatawny Phil predicts for the next few weeks. Although I highly doubt that a brown furry groundhog can predict the weather any better than the meteorologists. Sometimes I think they should just let the poor guy sleep and finish hibernating.

I have been listening to many concerns, stresses, health issues, grieving and other not-so-fun things many of us have been experiencing. Maybe for some of us it is the lack of light, less social interaction, or getting “the winter blues.” Whatever is bugging us, a book I read a few years ago came to mind as I was reflecting about some of the struggles, I know some of us are battling. It is called Learning to Walk in the Dark by Barbara Brown Taylor. In her book, Taylor writes about expectations of people of faith as we handle the not-so-fun parts of life. She writes about the many expectations we have for ourselves and for each other when it comes to handling hardships, loss, and other life changes. Taylor says:

FROM THE PASTOR

“To love another person
is to help them love God.”

—Søren Kierkegaard

“Emotions such as grief, fear, and despair have gained a reputation as ‘the dark emotions’ not because they are noxious or abnormal but because Western culture keeps them shuttered in the dark with other shameful things like personal bankruptcy or addiction. If you have ever spent time in the company of the dark emotions, you too may have received subtle messages from friends and strangers alike that you were supposed to handle them and move on sooner instead of later. Some of us have gotten the message that if we cannot do this on schedule, we may not have enough faith in God...

The good news is that dark and light, faith and doubt, divine absence and presence, do not exist at opposite poles. Instead, they exist with and within each other, like distinct waves that roll out of the same ocean and roll back into it again. As different as they are, they come from and return to the same source...Faith will not offer me much to hold on to. It will not give me a safe place to settle. Practicing it will require me to celebrate the sacraments of defeat and loss, but since the religion I know best has a lot to say about losing as the precondition for finding, I can live with that...my sense of God’s absence can be a token of God’s presence if I let it.”

We may have our doubts off and on, yet even Martin Luther believed God is closest to us when we feel furthest away. Taylor continues, “...God speaks to Jesus only once in the entire New Testament – shortly after he is baptized by John – it seems clear that this father and son were not in constant public conversation. Their conversation was almost entirely private, when Jesus went out on the mountain to spend the night with God in prayer...The only witnesses to his most intimate moments with God were the moon and stars-and it was all prayer.”

It is a beautiful thing to know that God truly knows us from the time we are in our mother’s womb, to the time we are born, our life long, and in death. God hears our every prayer, our every tear that is cried, our angry moments, and our deepest joys. We do not need to be embarrassed, but instead, embrace our relationship with our Creator and do our best not to let go of it.

We do not know what is ahead for us this year. We cannot always see the road ahead of us. Sometimes we need to take one day at a time, an hour, or even a minute at a time. This year as we reflect and look ahead to new things, we are called to trust in God to be near us and lead us. We do not need to fear because God is with us and God does not leave us to face anything alone.

Lastly, as St. Valentine’s Day approaches, remember how much God loves you and that Christ is always by your side!

May the Holy Spirit enfold you with God’s love,

Pastor Althea

Council Notes

Highlights of Church Council Meeting, January 16, 2025

- For the year, we are behind in our income by $55,898.62.
- The Finance Committee would like to close the general account currently at Fulton Bank, and open a Money Market account, either at Fulton Bank or another financial institution. This would be done to earn more interest. We currently earn 2% interest on the current account. A Money Market account could earn 4%.
- The Pastor reported that we currently have 38 shut-in members. She continues to make visits to hospitals and nursing homes and administering communion.
- Pastor will meet with the Christian Ed Committee on January 19, 2025 to discuss Sunday School and moving forward in 2025. Some Sundays there are no youth in Sunday School, which makes it frustrating for the teachers who have prepared lessons.
- Pastor handed out a small survey on January 12, 2025, to the congregation on how they would like communion administered. Most like communion as it is. Most prefer bread over wafers. There is a small need for grape juice as well as gluten-free wafers. Small changes will be made at the beginning of Lent to include these items. Pastor reminded us that God is with us in communion, no matter how it is administered.
- Ash Wednesday, Maundy Thursday and Good Friday services will be held at 12 noon with spoken liturgy and 7:00 pm with music.
- Renee Hunter and Heidi Gerver have agreed to serve on church council beginning in February 2025. They are filling vacated terms of 3 years each but will then be eligible to run for full terms of their own.
- Synod Assembly – June 5, 6, 7, 2025 – Tom Ryland has offered to attend. Neal Galbraith will attend unless another volunteer from the congregation comes forward.
- The Personnel Committee is still being formed. So far Judy Cassel and Lynn Kern will serve on this committee. Pastor must reach out to others from her list of names. 3-4 people are preferred for this group.
- The 2025 Budget was approved by the Council members via email votes.
- The Confirmands will be confirmed on Pentecost Sunday, June 8, 2025, during worship.

With Gratitude,

An Old Lady's <sup>OR MAN'S</sup> Poem

What do you see, nurses, what do you see?
What are you thinking when you're looking at me?
A crabby old woman, not very wise,
Uncertain of habit, with faraway eyes?

Who dribbles her food and makes no reply
When you say in a loud voice, "I do wish you'd try!"
Who seems not to notice the things that you do,
And forever is losing a stocking or shoe.

Who, resisting or not, lets you do as you will
With bathing and feeding, the long day to fill.
Is that what you're thinking? Is that what you see?
Then open your eyes, nurse; you're not looking at me!

I'll tell you who I am as I sit here so still,
As I do at your bidding, as I eat at your will.
I'm a small child of ten with a father and mother,
Brothers and sisters, who love one another.

A young girl of sixteen, with wings on her feet,
Dreaming that soon now a lover she'll meet.
A bride soon at twenty—my heart gives a leap,
Remembering the vows that I promised to keep.

At twenty-five now, I have young of my own
Who need me to foster a secure, happy home.
A woman of thirty, my young now grown fast,
Bound to each other with ties that should last.

At forty, my young sons have grown and are gone,
But my man's beside me to see I don't mourn.
At fifty, once more babies play round my knee,
Again we know children, my loved one and me.

Dark days are upon me, my husband is now dead:
I look at the future, I shudder with dread.
For my young are all rearing young of their own,
And I think of the years and the love that I've known.

I'm now an old woman, and nature is cruel;
Old age comes knocking, makes you look like a fool.
The body, it crumbles, grace and vigor depart,
My mind is left to ponder the dreams of my heart.

But inside this old body, a young girl still dwells,
And now and again my battered heart swells.
I remember the joys, I remember the pain,
And I'm loving and living life over again.

I think of the years—all too few, gone too fast,
And accept the stark fact that nothing can last.
So open your eyes, nurses, open and see,
Not a crabby old woman; look closer—see me!

*Remember this poem when you next meet an old person whom you might brush aside without looking at the young soul within.
We will one day be there too!*

6. Revive the scent, as needed, by adding a few drops of essential oil.

Make this heartfelt craft as a decoration or gift.

What you need:

- Yarn
- Scissors
- Parchment paper
- Baking sheet
- Heart-shaped cookie cutters
- ¼ cup cornstarch
- ½ cup water
- Adult help

What you do:

1. Cut yarn into 12-inch pieces.
2. Place cookie cutters atop a baking sheet lined with parchment paper.
3. Combine cornstarch and water in a saucepan. Heat mixture over medium heat, stirring until thick and smooth. Remove from heat and cool to form a "glue."
4. Dip each piece of yarn into the mixture to coat completely. Squeeze off any excess.
5. Place yarn in the cookie cutters, allowing pieces to cross and loop within the heart. Add more until the cookie cutter is filled and the yarn looks like a heart.
